WHAT HE WOULD DO.

Orthodox Punishment Suggested for a Sinful Child.

One of the little boys in kindergarten had been very naughty—he had told a lie. The teacher sorrowfully called her little charges together and tried earnestly to impress upon them all, as well as the offender, the enormity of the transgression.

"Johnny has told a lie," she said. "Now how can we make him see what a wicked thing it was, so that he will never do it again? I want you children to think of some way to punish him, and make him a better boy, and also to warn you never to do what he has done. What shall we do to Johnny?"

There was a long and thoughtful silence. At last another youngster in the back row, a close friend of the offender, but not disposed to temper with mercy his sense of justice or his orthodox convictions, raised his chubby hand.

"Well, Freddie?" said the teacher.

The answer came in a sepulchral voice:

"Send him to hell."

MAXIMS TO SUIT OCCASIONS.

Corbett's Papa Became Reconciled to His Son's Profession.

Puglist Corbett tells a story of his father that agreeably illustrates the readiness of the Celt to "hedge," to employ a bit of sporting vernacular.

The elder Corbett was proud of the fact that his son had a position in a bank, and received with disgust the announcement that a career as a wandering puglist was under consideration.

"You should stay where you are, Jim," he said. "Remember, a rolling stone gathers no moss."

Victory after victory added to young Corbett's bank account, until he won both fame and fortune in his calling by defeating the doughty Sullivan. When next he returned home and made his father a gift of a liberal check, meanwhile telling of the vast amount of money he had earned, the old man joyfully exclaimed:

"Ah, Jim, me boy; it's the roaming bee gathers in the honey!"

Sole Survivor of Famous Occasion.

Mrs. Adelaide Augusta Jones Dean of Boston, now nearly 84 years old, is the only surviving member of a juvenile chorus that gave the first public rendition of S. F. Smith's now famous "America" at a patriotic celebration held in the Park Street church on the evening of the Fourth of July, 1832. The chorus was made up exclusively of Boston school children, drilled and prepared under the direction of Lowell Mason, famous in musical circles of that period.

Child Born to Fortune.

It is understood that there was a diamond-studded golden spoon in the mouth of a boy who was born to Mr. and Mrs. Percy Avery Rockefeller the other day at their country home, Ardley-on-Hudson. He is a grandson of William Rockefeller and grandnephew of John D. Rockefeller, the Standard Oil man. More than that, he is a grandson on his mother's side of Jas. Stillman, president of the National Bank of New York.

Famine in Russia is Severe.

The situation of the famine-stricken peasants in Russia continues to grow worse. In 241 villages of the Minzinsk district, government of Cufa, 6,815 cases of a hunger epidemic disease (scurvy) were officially recorded on April 14, as compared with 2,723 cases reported on April 14. This is only a sample of existing conditions in other famine-stricken districts.
